GASLAND

ABOUT THE FILM "When filmmaker Josh Fox is asked to lease his land for drilling, he embarks on a cross-country odyssey uncovering a trail of secrets, lies and contamination. A recently drilled nearby Pennsylvania town reports that residents are able to light their drinking water on fire. This is just one of the many absurd and astonishing revelations of a new country called GASLAND."

The Government has recently given 'fracking' the go ahead, despite earthquakes linked to the practice in Lancashire and the risk of water contamination. Now the Weald and East Kent are under threat as this controversial practice comes to the South East.
